

They Don't Want You

Johnson, Collier, Haselton

Midnight, she hides under streetlights
But no one sees her there
Sidewalk shadows follow closer
Down the subway stairs

Now that they have got you where they want you, they don't want you
Smile while you're worlds coming down around you, if you want to,
cause they don't want you

Breathless, her head pounding, they said
You'll feel nothing now
Darker, colder, 4 years older
Here, but not so proud

Smile while you're worlds coming down around you, if you want to,
Cause they don't want you
