

Your Letter

You already told me all I need to know but why
Does everything I adore get pushed across the line
Is always the lonely ones who stand to loose the most
Guess I should already know that`s just the way it goes

Ref.:

I can read you perfectly and I don`t want your sympathy
I got your letter you should know me better
I doesn`t matter what you say you`re just another pretty face
I never ment you if I said I loved you

Is it coincidence a simple twist of fate
Or should I have seen you coming long before today
So you pick the hardest way for anyone to learn
And why is it every bridge I`m on you wanna burn

Bridge:

You say it`s all nobodys fault
It`s never you, you´re never wrong
